

BEIRUT DESIGN WEEK 2014

Beirut Design Week (BDW) was launched on Monday June 9, 2014 at Beirut Souks, and ran until June 15, 2014. The much-anticipated event showcased the work of local and international designers through exhibitions, conferences, workshops and open studios featured all across the capital. BDW served as a platform of cultural exchange between the city and the rest of the world. This year, it was organized in such a way that each day was dedicated to a certain part of the city; and so the program allowed the audience to explore every area of Beirut without missing out on any of the events. Since its inception in 2012, BDW has helped build the careers of over 50 young designers in Lebanon by promoting their projects. ■

